CMP plans to run bigger power lines

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Central Maine Power Company has unveiled plans to upgrade its main transmission line from Woodstock to Newry.

The company claims the upgrade will be needed to accommodate recent and projected growth along the line.

Much of that growth is at Sunday River Ski Resort. "Obviously the mountain comprises a large part of the growth," James Meyer, CMP director of transport engineering, told Bethel selectmen last week. But there was also increased power demand throughout the area, Meyer said.

The upgrade will result in increased electrical capacity and reliability throughout the area, Meyer said, but in order to achieve that goal the present poles must be replaced with higher poles (see drawing, page 2), and the cleared right of way must be widened from the present 70 feet to 100 feet.

He said CMP planned to negotiate with landowners to acquire the necessary right of ways.

Gould alumni gather

A reception Friday for alumni celebrating their 25th reunion and an alumni basketball game in memory of a member of the Class of 1973 will kick off this year's Gould Academy's Alumni Week-end.

The weekend's usual class gatherings, alumni awards, and Saturday evening banquet will be complemented this year by a number of new options.

On Friday evening at 8:15 p.m., "Molly's Game" will take place in Bingham Gym, giving a chance for alumni to join in a fun game of basketball, a benefit game in memory of Molly Matthews '73. Spectators are welcome.

Also on Friday the exhibition of alumna Sally Stowell Tessicini (who grew up in Bryant Pond) will be on display in the Owen Gallery, from 7 to 8:30.

At 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, alumni are invited to a special awards presentation in Bingham Auditorium.

"Alums won't want to miss the opportunity to see some very special folks surprised and honored," said Alumni Weekend organizer Frances Bernier.

Gould sports teams will be in action throughout the afternoon. Associate Headmaster "Dutch" Dresser will guide those who are interested in seeing and hearing all about Gould's new computer facility, beginning at 2 p.m. in Hanscom Hall, Room 104. One of the prime architects of the IBM network, Dr. Dresser will show how students can access Windows, WordPerfect, Microsoft Mail, and dozens of other academic programs from any computer on the campus Novell network, as well as the library card catalogue, and a 140-periodical retrieval system.

Also at 2 p.m., transportation will leave from the Bell Tower by Holden Hall for a rock bounding trip to Songo Pond Mine with Gould's own lapidary, Jim Mann '68.

At 5:00 p.m. the Alumni Association Wine & Cheese party will be held in the Field House followed by the Banquet at 6 p.m. Alumni will find new menus for both the lunch and evening meal.

Any questions about Alumni Weekend can be answered by calling Fran Bernier at 824-3598.

A complete schedule of Alumni Weekend events can be found on page 11 of this week's Citizen.

OVERTIME POWER PLAY--The Telstar High School team couldn't contain its excitement over Friday's 1-0 win against Jay. After the overtime win, the Rebels toppled the goal cage in a rush to congratulate goaltender Jessie Wight and each other. The Tigers and Rebels are traditional MVC field hockey powerhouses. Friday's win puts the Rebels in the running for the Mountain Valley Conference title, according to coach Gail Wight. Jay's only other loss was to Leavitt earlier in the season. Telstar, 5-1-0, plays at Leavitt today, Wednesday, at 5:30 p.m. Friday the Rebels travel to Dirigo for a try at avenging their early-season 1-4 loss to the Cougars.

Cross St. committee begins its work

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"I'd anticipate that for the next six weeks no one on this panel is going to hear about anything but Cross Street and the weather," said John Head, as Bethel's Cross Street Advisory Committee began its work Monday evening.

The committee is charged with laying out the town's options in response to the Cross Street development project. The $25 million project is the biggest ever proposed in the town, and involves the possible sale of town-owned land.

But the committee members have only six weeks to complete their study and make their recommendations to the selectmen.

The deadline is being driven by the need to call a Town Meeting by December to decide if the voters are willing to sell the town's parcel of land. Developer Heinie Merrill has said a quick decision is necessary if the project is to be economically viable.

The committee members immediately agreed on one thing--none of them wants the job of chairman, a job Head described as "almost fulltime for six weeks if it's to be done right."

By the end of Monday's meeting each member had been offered the position and each had turned it down.

Town Manager Madeleine Henley, who the selectmen have instructed to work closely with the committee and provide it with any support it needs, said that if no one volunteers to chair the committee she will attempt to lead the discussions.

But she said she hoped that at the committee's second meeting (scheduled for Tuesday evening), someone would step forward to take the chair.

Costs and benefits

The committee members also agreed on at least one more substantive matter: that the Cross Street deal cannot cost the town money.

"The one thing I constantly hear is 'I hope none of this is going to end up as a burden to the taxpayer,'" Head said.

Selectman Bob Chadbourne agreed. "The only way it will get by voters is if it's a win-win deal," Chadbourne said.

The two largest cost issues facing the town are relocating the town garages (which are currently located on the parcel the developers want to purchase) and financing possible infrastructure improvements that would be needed to accommodate

Greenstock Commercial waste haulers pay double

By WENDY HANSCOM

Commercial haulers disposing of brown goods at the Greenwood and Woodstock stump dump are now paying twice what the general public pays.

Stump dump officials, who upped the commercial fee last month, say the increase is necessary to help offset the expense of hauling away the towns' brown goods.

The current fee schedule was set in February. The commercial haulers' increase applies only to brown goods--construction debris, televisions, stereo equipment, mattresses, bed springs and other furniture.

"The board felt that if a person is being paid to haul large loads for a paying customer then the taxpayers shouldn't pick up the expense," said Greenwood Selectman Marie Bartlett.

The regular fees are: $2 for a car load, $5 for a pick-up truck load, $25 for a pick-up with high sideboards, $50 for a six-wheel truck and $100 for a 10-wheel truck load. Commercial haulers pay twice the listed amounts.

"It's still not going to pay for it all," Bartlett said. "It only goes to help defray the cost of providing the container."

There is no fee for the disposal of small appliances or brush, Bartlett said. A separate fee of $5 is paid for large appliances such as refrigerators, freezers and stoves. There is an additional fee for freon removal.

"Until we had to close the landfill, we've never had these expenses," Bartlett said. "The towns had no idea how much brown goods these two towns produce. Now we pull the trailer every month instead of ever four or five months, like we expected."

NARCO LEAF PEEPERS HAVE DRY SEASON--Maine Drug Enforcement Agency's annual helicopter marijuana search netted 268 plants in Oxford County this year--948 fewer than last year's total of 1,216. This is the third year the Maine DEA has taken to the skies to look for the illegal crop. In 1991, police agencies pulled 4,564 plants. "Either there are fewer plants being cultivated," said Maine DEA Special Agent Supervisor Gerry Baril, "or there are more plants being concealed. We like to think that because of the helicopter sweeps there are less plants being grown, but we can't be sure." Over the past few weeks, Army National Guard helicopters have flown over the county. Three people were charged with trafficking by cultivation in Bethel, South Hiram and Otisfield. Those charged were: John Marshall, 39, of Bethel, 14 plants; Valerie Bragdon, 23, of South Hiram, 4 plants and James David, 37, of Otisfield, 37 plants. Baril valued this year's Oxford County harvest at $536,000. The Maine DEA estimates that each plant pulled will yield a pound of marijuana with a street value of $2,000, he said.

Bethel NFLC study will examine costs and contributions of farm and forest land uses

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Town of Bethel has been selected as site of a study that will examine how much working farm and forest land costs the town in services, and how much such lands contribute to the town in taxes and other benefits.

The study is intended to provide "a snapshot baseline of the financial contributions of the various land uses" in the town. It will be conducted by an intern working with the Northern Forest Land Council.

Bethel's participation, which will not cost the town any money, was approved unanimously by the town selectman last week.

"I would think we can lose nothing by it," said selectman Robert Chadbourne. "I think it would be fascinating to see the results."

Bethel was selected for the study in part because of its combination of working woodlands and rising development pressures, according to NFLC Executive Director

Charles Levesque. "There's a real variety of landscapes and businesses in Bethel," Levesque said.

The NFLC is a temporary advisory body created by the U.S. Congress and the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York. The council is charged with studying issues surrounding the conservation of 26 million acres of forest lands in those four states.

The NFLC is scheduled to release a draft statement of findings and options by the end of this year. A final report is planned for submission to Congress and the partici-

CPS art sought

$37,000 available for commissions

By WENDY HANSCOM

The search is on for artists to decorate the halls and public ways of the Crescent Park School's new addition, renovated space and school grounds.

SAD44's One Percent for Art Committee has approximately $37,000 to spend on various art works to dress up the school.

Representing the district on the committee are CPS principal David Murphy and school board directors Debra Dohrmann and Marcel Polak. Other committee members include project clerk-of-the-works Jim Reuter, and Sarah Shepley and Lyn Hallett of the Maine Arts Commission.

The Maine Legislature mandates that one percent for art must be set aside in all new school construction, and then approved by the schools' governing boards. If not approved, the funds must be returned to the state.

The SAD44 school board approved the CPS project art expenditure in May.

Board OKs pay hikes

By WENDY HANSCOM

The SAD44 school board Monday evening approved an increase in insurance and wages for the district's busdrivers, custodians and food service workers.

The cost to the district for the insurance increase over this year and next would be approximately $7,250 in FY '94 and $5,900 more in FY '95.

In FY '95, the district employees will receive a 40 cent raise at each step increase at a cost of $23,032.

Salary and benefit negotiations are held in executive session. There was no public comment on the increases at Monday's board meeting.

Voting against the proposal were Bethel directors Merton Brown, Edleen Winslow, Jane Rolfe and Fran Tyler; Andover director Brad Thibodeau and Newry director Alison Aloisio.

Woodstock director Marcel Polak and Greenwood directors Susan Gordon and Ray Harrington were absent at the time of the vote.

Home schooling policy set

Monday evening the board also gave final approval to the district's new home-schooling policy.

The policy generally allows home-schooled students access to all of SAD44's programs including

FIELD TRIP MISREPRESENTED

To the Editor:

"Susan Forkus" letter to the editor last week regarding the Woodstock School's fifth grade trip to Williamsburg contained a number of serious errors which must be corrected.

First, it is important to understand how this opportunity became available to these children. The fifth-grade teacher, Mary Newcomb, applied for a workshop put on by Educational Field Studies and was one of the few teachers chosen from many applicants throughout the country to go to Williamsburg this past summer to learn firsthand about Colonial America (not the Civil War). This experience made it possible for her to offer, in turn, the same privilege to her present class. Whether this field trip will be available to future classes is uncertain.

Chaperones will not travel for free, nor is there an unlimited number. There will be only two parents traveling with the group, and they are chosen at a random drawing. Each chaperone will pay about $650. In any case, the chaperones who were chosen have worked diligently to help make this trip possible and their time and energy, not to mention their own monetary donations, have certainly earned them a place on this trip.

The total cost of the trip is estimated to be approximately $6,000, not $10,000. At this point $2,000 has already been raised by parents, students, and through business contributions. More fundraising is planned.

The only potential cost to the students is a $25 registration fee. For those who cannot afford to pay this fee, there is money available through the fundraising to pay it.

As with any field trip, the parents reserve the judgement as to whether or not to send their child. Consequently, not all of the fifth-graders have opted to go on the trip.

Ms. Forkus is correct in stating that some of her alternative destinations for field trips, such as Sturbridge Village, would not involve taking a plane ride. However, the transportation was carefully researched before a decision was made. The best reasons for flying to Virginia are because it's so darned far away, and the price was right, both in terms of time and money.

And, yes, school is about lots of first experiences, whether they are close to home or in Europe. Many schools offer opportunities for students to travel in order to enhance their learning. I can speak to this from firsthand experience. I was a French major in college and I finally went to France for a month in my senior year. That's when I really learned to speak the language. I sincerely hope that my children will be able to have the same chance through their schools.

Finally, as for the drinking water at WES. Last year a new filter system was installed and the water was tested and found to be safe.

I invite Ms. Forkus to attend the WPTA meetings regularly and to become a part of the fundraising and activities which serve to meet the educational needs of our students.

PLAYGROUND RAFFLE WINNERS

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the winners of the Bethel Playground Committee's raffle! All three winners are from Bethel. Mary Doonen won a round of golf at The Bethel Inn, Cathy Newell won dinner for two at the Sudbury Inn, and Erin Thornton won dinner for two at the Sunday River Brewery. Congratulations and thank you all for your support and donations.

The playground equipment for Phase I of the project is due to arrive at Davis Park on Saturday, Oct. 30. Anyone interested in helping us build that afternoon, please call Marie Keene (824-2608) or Marci Baker (824-2213). We will provide refreshments for any volunteers. Thank you.

HELP UNITED WAY

To the Editor:

This week the United Way of Oxford County begins its 1993 fund-raising campaign. As an organization devoted to helping people, we depend on the generosity of residents in the various communities for support.

United Way dollars help with problems in our own back yard. They help our kids with a variety of youth programs; they help our elderly and in reducing the costs of home care; they help in emergencies such as fires and domestic assault and they help with training and education.

As a group we depend on volunteers for United Way committees who have the responsibility of voicing their perception of needs within the county and then deciding how United Way funds should be used.

We also depend on volunteers in the workplace. People like Bruce Powell of SAD44 and Jeff Kelcourse of Sunday River Ski Resort help manage the running of fund-raising appeals within their respective places of employment. These and many others in Oxford County are tremendously important to the United Way and in turn to the many beneficiaries who live in the county.

No donation is too small. Recently a penny collection by children in Norway came up with 38 pounds of pennies, a total of $68 all together, that will be distributed to ongoing United Way programs.

If you have questions about the United Way in Oxford County, please call 743-5833. We can help make better neighborhoods with your assistance.

Woodstock-Bethel Right of Way

TALLER TOWERS COMING—Central Maine Power Company plans to upgrade the capacity of its transmission lines from Woodstock to Sunday River. The plan calls for replacing the present poles with taller poles. Along the Woodstock to Bethel right of way (above) the poles would increase from an average height of 35 feet to 55 feet; along the roadside route from Bethel to Sunday River the increase would be less dramatic, from a present average height of 45 feet to a new average of 50-55 feet. The area to be cleared along the right of way would also increase, from the current 70 feet to 100 feet. Work on the upgrade could begin as early as next September, depending on the rate of load growth in the area served by the line.

TAKE A STAND NOW

To the Editor:

Drivers or pedestrians impaired by alcohol account for one death on U.S. highways every 22 minutes, adding up to about 20,000 lives lost in 1991. This equates to 220,000 lives lost in a decade, almost a quarter of a million people. That's about 60 deaths per day. A dozen of those who lose their lives are young people—those under 21 years old. Every day. All year long. Every year.

About three-quarters of a million more people are injured in alcohol-related motor vehicle crashes annually. This equals the population of San Francisco. Coincidentally, estimates of the total years of life lost this way also come out at around three-quarters of a million.

When it comes to everyone's bottom line in the 1990s, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) puts the cost for a highway crash involving a driver or pedestrian impaired by alcohol and/or other drugs at $308 annually for every man, woman, and child in the U.S. According to "Injury Prevention: Meeting the Challenge," the total medical cost per critical injury is at an average of $138,000. Also, every highway death costs society more than $330,000. But an additional study cited in "Injury Prevention: Meeting the Challenge" upped the figure to $425,000. Even taking the statistical low road, 20,000 times any of these numbers adds up to a huge dent in the fender of the U.S. economy.

Research shows that any measurable alcohol increases the crash risk for some drivers and the risk increases substantially by .08 BAC. By now, just about everyone has heard "Don't drink and drive" messages enough times.

Unfortunately, decisions to refrain from driving can also be impaired by drinking, especially when risk-taking use of alcohol is modeled by some of the very same people who deliver the "Don't drink and drive" message. Telling kids to just say no may not be worth much if kids see their parents and others they look up to saying yes. And it can't be easy on them to be surrounded by positive alcohol images featuring all kinds of things they want to be part of, when the health education their community offers them about drinking is an occasional classroom hour, or maybe a TV public service announcement that airs after midnight.

Progress already makes clear that there's nothing accidental about impaired driving crashes. Communities can change, just as laws and individual behavior can change. These grim statistics can change. We can save lives. We can save limbs and eyes. We can save minds and property. We can save precious law enforcement resources and court time and precious health care dollars. And we can save lives, one at a time, or even by the dozen.

Opinion

Concerned Mainers fly to Congress

By LEON FAVREAU

Three Maine citizens provided a strong state delegation to the Third Annual Fly-In for Freedom in the nation's capital. They attended because they are concerned that their culture and communities are being over-regulated out of existence.

We were there because Congress needs to hear our message. We've got families, we produce goods for the country and the world, and we're afraid for our futures, and for all citizens of Maine.

The Fly-In for Freedom was the annual gathering of members and supporters of the Alliance for America, the nation's largest amalgamation of 500 grass-roots coalitions. These coalitions advocate balance between the needs of people and the environment, multiple use of public lands and natural resources, and full protection of every American's constitutional private-property rights. The alliance has more than doubled in size each year of its three-year existence.

I was joined by Mike Coffman of Bangor and Paul Niehaus of Sebago Lake, both representing the Maine Conservation Rights Institute, known as MECRI. The Maine contingent joined 500 participants from 48 other states and two foreign nations. Representation included farm and agriculture, mining, forestry, fishing, recreation and a number of other resource-based industries and livelihoods.

"Although we are often accused by radical environmentalists of defending property rights to the exclusion of environmental considerations, that is incorrect," Coffman said. MECRI's entire purpose is to show how land can be protected far more effectively through good stewardship and conservation practices on private land than locking it up in federal preserves or through excessive regulations as preservationists demand. "Maine is dependent on its natural resources. Together, forest products, agriculture, and commercial fishing directly account for the largest direct component of its state gross product, and nearly 50 percent of Maine's high-paying industrial jobs. All Mainers," he concluded, "would suffer under environmentalist proposals to create vast national parks or wilderness areas in Maine."

Niehaus commented that "one of the great concerns today is legislation creating the National Biological Survey." This legislation is on a fast track through Congress this month, and is sponsored by Bruce Babbitt, secretary of interior and by former Wilderness Society president, George Frampton, now assistant secretary of interior. While head of the Wilderness Society, Frampton promoted the idea of turning northern Maine into a wilderness area. According to Niehaus the bill, "sounds innocent, but allows federal bureaucrats to enter private land without landowner permission, and even denies the landowner access to the information taken on his land under the Freedom of Information Act." "This bill is so open-ended," warned Niehaus, "that it gives broad sweeping powers to federal bureaucrats to define and survey through subjective personal opinion what they think is biologically important on private land. The results of the survey are then turned over to federal regulators in other agencies who are mandated to enforce the NBS requirements. All without landowner consent or knowledge."

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 7, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, 14 Broad Street, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This meeting will feature the annual "What's It?" Anyone with an unusual item from the past is urged to bring it to share with those attending. Following this portion of the meeting, Polly Davis will present an illustrated slide lecture on the history of "Old Grover Hill Road."

This road, now called officially Annis Road, was once the only road from Bethel Hill to Grover Hill. This area is one of the most historic ones in Bethel; the Grover Hill Cemetery contains the graves of some of the town's best-known early citizens. Anyone having photographs, anecdotes, and/or information relating to this section of the town is urged to come to the meeting and share them with those attending. The meeting is open to all interested persons.

LIPMAN ADDRESSES GOP

State Rep. Sumner Lipman (R-Augusta) was the featured speaker at the September meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee held in Dixfield.

Lipman described his background in the family poultry business and in banking in addition to his legal career as providing him with unique and strong qualifications for understanding the problems facing Maine. He detailed his political experience in the Augusta area, winning in what was considered a Democratic district.

He said Republicans must attract voters in urban areas as he has done in Augusta.

Lipman pointed to the Workman's Compensation issue as being one of the most troublesome facing Maine and announced he has a program to substantially reduce this cost to Maine businesses. He also maintained another barrier to business growth was the permit process. If he is elected governor, a "yes" or "no" will be given to a potential developer within 60 days.

Lipman said the university system should be overhauled to ensure graduates are being trained for the jobs of the future and Maine's tax system should be reformed to stimulate growth. Maine currently has the fifth highest taxes in the nation and that must change to improve Maine's business climate.

From the Bethel Town Office

The work is winding down on Phase III of the sewer main and storm drain replacement program. Church and Park Streets are essentially finished; all the pipe and structures are installed in Mill Hill Road, Bethel Drive and Broad Street; road reconstruction in those areas is under way. The curbing crew is back in town, and the pavers will be along immediately following. Only the addition of work on Mechanic and Summer Streets, which we hope will be approved for next spring, remains.

It has been a difficult three years for many of us. These projects have affected our lives, our homes, and our businesses. $713,700 of the $2,662,000 project has been borrowed and another $71,500 has been spent from road and sidewalk funds.

On the gain side, this town has basically rebuilt its streets, sidewalks and collection systems with 30 cent dollars. Over 70 percent of the project costs, $1,876,800, came from grants in aid to Bethel. The roads may need resurfacing again in 10 or 15 years, but we should not have to rebuild again. The collection system should hold for decades. The Inflow and Infiltration Removal Project has reduced the flow to the treatment plant from a normal range of between 190,000 and 2,600,000 gallons per day (gpd) to an average of 128,000 gpd, and will go lower now that Phase III is done. This allows for avoided costs of building a larger treatment plant and increases the life of the current facility.

The town is to be congratulated for taking on this difficult project. People have been tolerant through the delays and have faced the inconvenience and hardship with a somewhat cheerfully resigned outlook. On behalf of the town employees, I thank you all for your patience.

On another note, Clayton Sweatt, Bethel's recycling center worker has once again won both the corrugated cardboard and the newspaper packing contests put on by Oxford County Solid Waste Corporation. Marie Bartlett of the corporation tells me that Mr. Sweatt is held as a role model to other towns, because the more material packed into a container the less it costs us to haul it. Please offer congratulations to Mr. Sweatt next time you see him at the center.

Ms. Bartlett also says that we should be able to recycle our magazines, catalogues and other glossy paper by Christmas.

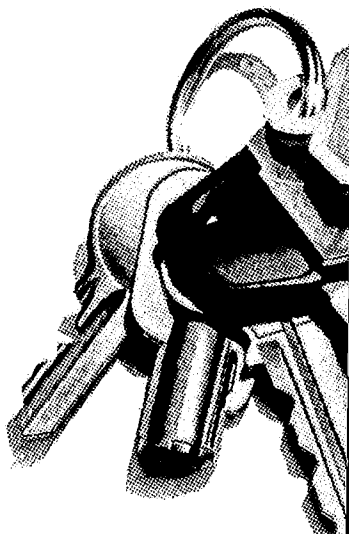

Town Clerk Merton Brown, who is also clerk to the assessors, has done a great job correlating the corrected assessments and preparing the information for the property tax bills. The rate was set last week at $14.75 per thousand. Merton and the staff are printing and processing the bills now. First half payments are due upon receipt and interest is assessed after Nov. 15. If you have any problems, please give us a call.

From the Bethel Town Office

The work is winding down on Phase III of the sewer main and storm drain replacement program. Church and Park Streets are essentially finished; all the pipe and structures are installed in Mill Hill Road, Bethel Drive and Broad Street; road reconstruction in those areas is under way. The curbing crew is back in town, and the pavers will be along immediately following. Only the addition of work on Mechanic and Summer Streets, which we hope will be approved for next spring, remains.

It has been a difficult three years for many of us. These projects have affected our lives, our homes, and our businesses. $713,700 of the $2,662,000 project has been borrowed and another $71,500 has been spent from road and sidewalk funds.

On the gain side, this town has basically rebuilt its streets, sidewalks and collection systems with 30 cent dollars. Over 70 percent of the project costs, $1,876,800, came from grants in aid to Bethel. The roads may need resurfacing again in 10 or 15 years, but we should not have to rebuild again. The collection system should hold for decades. The Inflow and Infiltration Removal Project has reduced the flow to the treatment plant from a normal range of between 190,000 and 2,600,000 gallons per day (gpd) to an average of 128,000 gpd, and will go lower now that Phase III is done. This allows for avoided costs of building a larger treatment plant and increases the life of the current facility.

The town is to be congratulated for taking on this difficult project. People have been tolerant through the delays and have faced the inconvenience and hardship with a somewhat cheerfully resigned outlook. On behalf of the town employees, I thank you all for your patience.

On another note, Clayton Sweat, Bethel's recycling center worker has once again won both the corrugated cardboard and the newspaper packing contests put on by Oxford County Solid Waste Corporation. Marie Bartlett of the corporation tells me that Mr. Sweat is held as a role model to other towns, because the more material packed into a container the less it costs us to haul it. Please offer congratulations to Mr. Sweat next time you see him at the center.

Ms. Bartlett also says that we should be able to recycle our magazines, catalogues and other glossy paper by Christmas.

Town Clerk Merton Brown, who is also clerk to the assessors, has done a great job correlating the corrected assessments and preparing the information for the property tax bills. The rate was set last week at $14.75 per thousand. Merton and the staff are printing and processing the bills now. First half payments are due upon receipt and interest is assessed after Nov. 15. If you have any problems, please give us a call.

Work could begin as early as next fall, Meyer said, depending on load growth on the line.

The present line has a single 34.5 kilovolt circuit; the proposed upgrade would have a double 34.5-Kv circuit. In addition, one side of the new poles would be insulated to accommodate a 69-Kv circuit. The larger circuit could then be added at a later date if demand was sufficient, Meyer said.

Sections of the present line date back to the 1920s. The line serves the area through substations located in Woodstock, Bryant Pond, Locke Mills, at the P.H. Chadbourne Mill and in Bethel.

The line follows the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad tracks for much of its route, but loops north of the tracks in Locke Mills village, in order to reach the substation there.

From the Bethel substation, the line crosses Route 26 and runs north of Cross Street (across some of the land proposed for the Victoria Station development), joins routes 2/26, then heads out along the roadway to the Sunday River Road and on to the skiway.

Cross Street

the project (for example, at the sewerage treatment plant).

Merrill, who presented an overview of the project Monday, said he was confident such issues could be addressed to the town's satisfaction.

"If I can't prove to Bethel that this is a win for Bethel then I wouldn't have come this far," he said.

But Merrill noted that the cost-benefit analysis would need to go beyond a simple dollars-to-dollars comparison.

"Other factors will need to come into the equation," he said. "The discussion has to move beyond 'Does the sale of the land for X pay for Y.'"

Committee member Don Vautour appeared skeptical of that response. "We're going to be in big trouble if

Power for powder

Sunday River Ski Resort is the largest power customer along the line, according to James Bouford, CMP director of distribution planning and technical services.

Currently, the Bethel substation can put out 18 megawatts of power, 14 Mw of which are available to Sunday River, he said.

The proposed upgrade would increase the total output of the Bethel substation to 32 Mw, Bouford said.

During Sunday River's peak usage periods last winter, the skiway drew approximately 10.4 Mw of power, according to Burt Mills, Sunday River vice president for mountain operations.

Three-quarters of that power was used for snowmaking, Mills said.

CMP has been very cooperative in attempting to accommodate the skiway's power requirements, Mills said. For example, over the off-season CMP connected Sunday River with a meter at the Bethel substation. The hook-up allows mountain technicians to adjust the amount of power the skiway uses according to the total amount of load on the line.

Electromagnetic concerns

In recent years questions have been raised about the possible health effects of exposure to electromagnetic fields (EMFs), such as those found along power lines or in the immediate vicinity of some common household appliances.

Scientists are divided on the issue. Some claim there is no danger, or if a danger exists it is infinitesimal; others say the danger (primarily of cancer and birth defects) is real and significant.

At last week's selectmen's meeting Tim Vrabel, chair of CMP's EMF task force, demonstrated a simple device for testing EMFs, and he left behind a packet of materials on the EMF controversy.

Vrabel described the contents of the packet as "good, objective reading on this very controversial subject."

The packet is available for inspection in the Bethel Town Office.

(The case for an EMF danger can be found in New Yorker writer Paul Brodeur's recent book: "The Great Power Line Cover-Up: How the utilities and the government are trying to hide the cancer hazards posed by electromagnetic fields.") we're talking money out of pocket," he cautioned.

Other issues

In addition to considering options for relocating the town buildings and financing possible infrastructure improvements, the committee is expected to look a variety of other issues. These include the sewer system development charge (which could be nearly $500,000 if calculated by the usual formula), water availability, impact on the rest of the village (especially Main Street businesses), possible waivers of town regulation (for example, building heights and parking), and what mix of funding options would allow the town to leverage the most benefit from the project.

But while the committee will debate such issues, and make recommendations to the selectmen, it is the selectmen who will carry on actual negotiations with the developers.

And other bodies, such as the Planning Board, who will consider possible regulation waivers.

And in the end, it will be town voters who will decide for themselves if the Cross Street project is in the town's best interest.

The Cross Street Advisory Committee will meet each Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Town Office meeting room. (Plans for phase one of the project are now on view in the meeting room).

All meetings will be open to the public.

Study

ting states by the middle of next year.

The cost-of-community-services study in Bethel is the only one being conducted in the four-state NFLC area, Levesque told The Citizen.

The study is based on a model developed by the American Farmland Trust, a private non-profit conservation organization founded in 1980 to protect the nation's agricultural resources.

The local study will be conducted by Thomas Good, a graduate student at Antioch New England College.

Good will spend time in the Town Office collecting information on Bethel's revenues and expenses. He will then allocate both revenues and expenses by land use and analyze the resulting data.

From the Bethel Police log:

Town manager's car pawed

Town Manager Madeleine Henley reported Tuesday she had found several greasy, black hand prints on her car after it was parked Monday in the Bethel Savings Bank parking lot. Henley told police nothing seemed missing from the car.

Tuesday police came across two juveniles spray painting a toy near a section of the new granite curbing on Main Street. Some paint had also been sprayed onto the curbing. Police asked the boys to clean up the paint, which they did willingly, according to the report.

Police responded to two accidents on the overpass on Sept. 17. At 1:16 p.m., vehicles driven by Harold Clough Jr., 18, of Bethel and Real Credit, 63, of Biddeford collided on the Route 2 overpass. Damage to Clough's vehicle, $500; to Credit's $600.

About an hour later at 2:40 p.m., vehicles driven by Thomas Skehan, 73, of Gardner and Lessard Clement, 57, of Gorham, N.H. also collided on the overpass. Damage to Skehan's 1979 Buick, $1,000; Clement's 1981 International tractor $800.

No one was seriously injured in either accident.

classroom courses, field trips and all after-school sports.

Rolfe and Harrington were the only board members to speak out against the policy.

"I've had several kids come up to me and say it is not a fair for home-schooled students to participate in sports when kids who miss a day of school can't play the next day," Rolfe said.

Policy Committee chair Harrington said he thought the plan gave home-schooled students too much access to the district's programs.

"It's pretty open," Harrington said. "Probably the only thing missing is providing a company car and credit card. It's my job on the policy committee to protect the district from possible liability problems. There are so many shades of gray here that I can't see putting this into policy."

But Merton Brown said the district should welcome all students.

"The bottom line is that we're here to educate all kids and we shouldn't shut the door on home-school students," Brown said.

The board ultimately approved the policy. Rolfe and Harrington were the only directors to vote against it.

11th-grade MEA scores

Superintendent Ronald Jenkins also distributed the results of last year's eleventh-grade Maine Educational Assessment test.

This year's senior class scored above the state average in all five of the assessment areas—reading, writing, mathematics, science and humanities.

Jenkins said he will do a formal presentation on the results at the next board meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 12. This is the first year the district has MEA test results from fourth-, eighth- and eleventh-grades on the same class, he said.

The board also accepted the resignation of Telstar High School guidance director Dan Hart.

Hart is leaving Telstar to take a position at NOVA as the student services coordinator.

Haulers

Bartlett said she knows of no complaints regarding the fees.

"Some people think we should raise taxes to pay the entire expense," she said. "Others say they don't use it so why should they pay for it."

But Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield said he has fielded several complaints.

"Probably everyone who comes in here (complaints)," Maxfield said.

Domestic Violence Month

Safer Families of Oxford County will commemorate National Domestic Violence Month in October by distributing purple ribbons, hosting a professional women's breakfast, holding a fundraising raffle and more.

Safer Families director Lynn Mason said that last year the group passed out 1,000 purple ribbons in memory of victims of domestic violence and in celebration of its survivors.

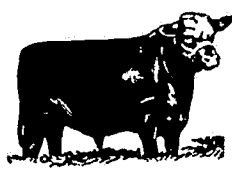

This year Safer Families hopes to hand out 3,000 to 4,000 ribbons in the greater Bethel, Rumford and Norway-South Paris areas.

"Women for Women" will be the theme of the Oct. 21 breakfast at the Sudbury Inn for area professional women. The fundraising breakfast will feature a speaker on domestic violence issues.

Other events planned for October include a raffle of several items donated by local businesses and citizens and a T-shirt sale.

Anyone interested in more information about Safer Families or in volunteering for the group can call Mason at 824-2193 or 1-800-287-2292.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Our first Parent Volunteer meeting was held this past week with an enthusiastic group ready and willing to work. Special guest Beverly Chalmers attended to get a firsthand look at how our volunteer program works.

Ms. Chalmers is the Oxford Hills Community Exchange director. She wants to see what we are doing and to find out what she can do to help. She attended a very busy meeting. Our volunteer coordinator, Michelle Blake, was unable to be with us, and Lisa Beebe conducted the meeting in her absence. Lisa reported on activities already accomplished, and presented an agenda to keep us busy right through Christmas.

The Parent Volunteer meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of every month. If for some reason a Tuesday meeting has to be postponed, it will be held the following evening (Wednesday). Don't miss the Oct. 5 meeting.

I have already talked about our volunteer group in my first two columns of the year, and I have more to report. Our heartfelt thanks go to Perham's Gem and Mineral Store for their donation of sandbox toys to the Legion Memorial School. The kindergartners and first-graders are enjoying new trucks, pails, shovels and other outdoor equipment thanks to Perham's donation. Thanks also go to Clay Wilson and Carl Howard for delivering sand for the sandbox. Two other donations in progress are a handmade toy box to be used indoors at the Legion School. Our thanks and appreciation go to Gary Freeland. Another Gary, Gary Latno is building a special sign to be placed at the "big" school. This will be used for special announcements and events. West Paris should be very proud of its volunteers and its community spirit.

The parents are undertaking several fund-raising events for the 1993-94 school year. A finance committee, headed by Jean Richards, is being organized. Jean's first major project will be the candy bar sale, which will be coming up soon. I will include more information as plans progress. Dixie Inman is organizing a Christmas Craft Fair to be held on Saturday, Dec. 4. She is holding weekly meetings to get together to make items, and would like to hear from all who are interested in donating their time, talents and products. We will be holding some activity periods for students to make crafts. This fair will also have lots of items priced to allow students, as well as adults, to do some Christmas shopping. Another plant sale was mentioned for next spring. Other possibilities were mentioned also. The money raised will be used in various ways, such as: field trips, playground equipment, special events, programs and projects.

Other items addressed at the Parent Volunteer meeting included changing the date for banking this year. Dixie Inman will pick up the banking on Mondays. She will also see that the bank books are returned to the school, complete with a new deposit slip, in time for them to be taken home and readied for the next Monday's deposit.

Kim Inman is a West Paris representative on the board of our public access channel, Channel IV. Kim encouraged us to make use of video cameras and send programs to Channel IV. She advised us that Channel IV has volunteers who are willing to conduct a workshop for a group of us who would like to learn how to use the video equipment. She was asked to make the arrangements. Our Christmas concert is one program that might very well be worth watching.

However, Halloween comes before Christmas, and the group voted to sponsor the third annual Halloween party. A special meeting was set for Sept. 28, to be devoted solely to the planning of this party. I will have more to report in the next few weeks.

I will include more classroom news next week, but I do want to report that the first-graders had a great day at the Oxford County Fair on Education Day, and received a blue ribbon for their quilt featuring animals and vegetables "from the farm to the fair." Mrs. Loper was pleased to see the quilt displayed on the wall, complete with its blue ribbon. We are proud of all of them.

ATV SAFETY COURSE GRADS

Twelve students ages 13 to 16 completed an all terrain vehicle safety course Saturday sponsored by the Bethel Police Department.

Participants included: Macy Blaisdell, Justin Buker, Caleb Corliss, Nate Corliss, Jacob Swick and Nathan Whitworth of West Bethel; Wesley Dumont, Jeremy Lapham and Alan Mason of Bethel; Scott Conary and Gregory Peaslee of Andover and Larry Sweetser of Gilead.

SPRING BREAK IN ITALY

Area high school students and adults interested in traveling to Italy are invited to an informational meeting on Thursday, Sept. 30. It will be held in room 302 at Mt. Valley High School at 7 p.m.

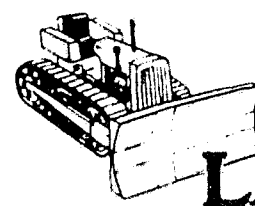

Ann Morton, who has organized and led trips to Europe for area students and adults for the past nine years, has announced that the ten-day trip will include visits to Venice, Florence, Rome, Sorrento, and Assisi. Some of the highlights will be a visit to ancient Pompeii, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, a trip by hydrofoil to the Isle of Capri, and a tour of the recently restored Sistine Chapel at St. Peter's Cathedral.

The trip is scheduled for April 15-24, 1994, which is during the public school spring vacation.

Anyone interested in learning more about the trip is invited to attend the meeting on Thursday. A short video will be shown, and day-by-day itineraries and prices will be available.

Telstar 1

The Telstar soccer team lost 3-1 to Winthrop in Wednesday's Mountain Valley Conference match up.

Telstar 2,
Jay 0

Nate Harvey's early goal Friday set the pace for Telstar's 2-0 soccer win over Jay.

Harvey scored 1:30 into the game on a corner kick from Cory K. Ryan Chastanet, assisted by F. Diaz, scored the final goal of the shutout with 12:24 left in the half.

Kevin Mullen and Sean Gilchrist stood out on defense, according to coach Robert Remington.

Telstar took 32 shots on goal. Jay 2. Goaltenders Todd Wing and Adam Newell each had one save. The Tigers' goaltender logged three saves. The Rebels had 13 penalties, and Jay 12.

Hebron 4,
Gould 2

The Gould Academy boys' soccer team lost 4-2 to Hebron Academy in the Huskies' season opener Saturday.

Hebron opened the scoring on a penalty kick 23 minutes into the first half. Gould tied the score minutes later when a shot by C. McNevech deflected off a Lumley player.

Jack and sailed by the Hebron goaltender. Two shots from outside the penalty box gave Hebron a 3-1 time lead.

Two minutes into the second half, Gould's Ryan Bartley scored a pass from Chase Gray. C. missed four open shots and a penalty kick in the second half.

"It was Gould's first game and we are just getting used to playing

Andover

By KAREN MCKAY

The First Congregational Church is holding their Sunday School Rally Day on Sunday, Oct. 3, at 9:30 a.m. at the CEB. All interested children ages 4 and up are invited to attend and sign up for the program.

Join the Andover Historical Society for their Open House which will be held on Sunday, Oct. 3, 1 to 4 p.m. They are featuring a display of "Hobbies of Yesteryears." If you have samples of old hobbies that you would like displayed during the open house, please drop off the articles at the building between 9 and 11 on the morning of the open house.

The Elementary School will host their Open House on Oct. 12; this coincides with the parent/teacher conferences. Appointment times will be sent home soon with all students. The conferences are scheduled to run from 12 to 8 p.m.

The Andover Public Library will hold a story hour every Thursday from 2:45 to 3:30 p.m. for grades kindergarten thru three. A snack will be provided. Anyone who would like to volunteer for this program is asked to call Carol during library hours at 392-4841. The library has added a few new books to their shelves, including: "Pronto" by Elmore Leonard; "Sacred Clowns" by Tony Hillerman; "Fortune's Favorites" by Colleen McCullough; "The Black Opal" by Victoria Holt; "Escapade" by Jane Aiken Hodge; "Houses of Stone" by Barbara Michaels; "Lasher" by Anne Rice; "Den of Lions: Memoirs of Seven Years" by Terry Anderson; "Twice in a Blue Moon" by Patricia Moyes; "Free to Love" by Ivana Trump; "Guardian" by John Saul; "Doll's Eyes" by Bari Wood; "Pot of Gold" by Judith Michael; "A is for Alibi"; "B is for Burglar"; "C is for Corpse"; "D is for Deadbeat"; "E is for Evidence"; "F is for Fugitive"; "G is for Gumshoe"; "H is for Homicide"; "I is for Innocent" by Sue Grafton. The library hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 1 to 4:30, and Thursday evenings 6 to 8.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

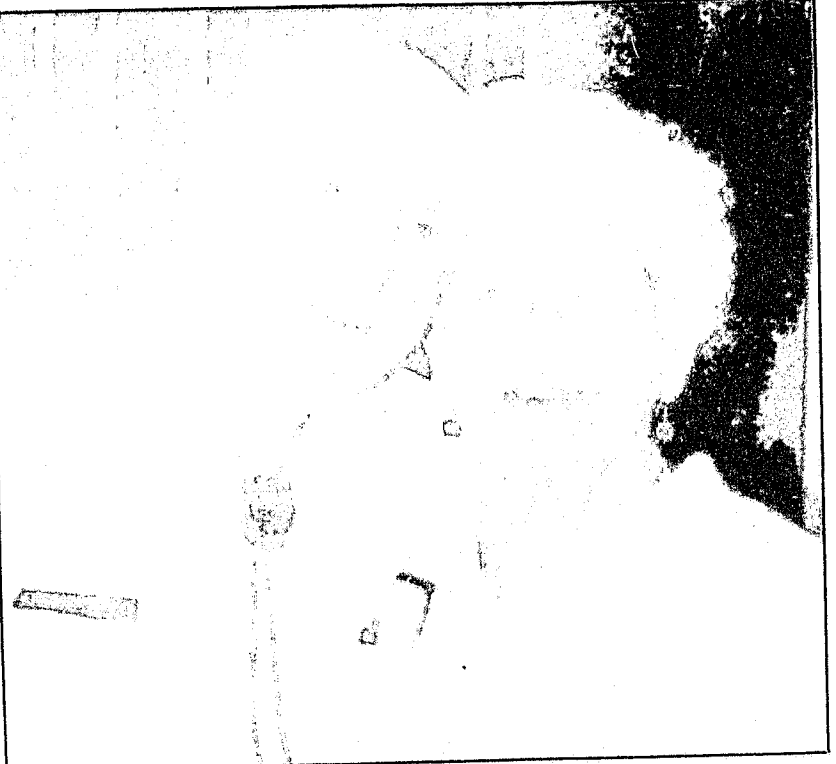

Ivan and Ann Proctor and Ivan, Jr. spent the weekend at Stoney Brook in Stratton.

West Paris Historical Society met Monday evening, Sept. 20, for a potluck supper before the meeting. There were 14 present. Olga Gellatly gave an interesting report on the tour of her home during the bi-centennial celebration. Plans were made for the Hunters' and Family Breakfast to be held on Oct. 30. Sayward and Cynthia Lamb will be in charge of purchasing supplies. The usual workers volunteered to work on it. We also voted to put on another vaudeville-type show on Oct. 22. This show will be similar to the one we put on last year. The posters will be done by Eleanor Inman. Other committees will be formed later. The next meeting will be on Oct. 18. The potluck supper committee will be Lempi Cyr, Vernon and Miriam Inman.

On Tuesday I went with Ann Proctor and Dorene Merrill to have popovers at Market Square Restaurant and did other errands. Went to lunch at Snow Falls Restaurant; this was a really special day and I hope we can have many more.

The Crafty Group met with Cynthia Lamb at her camp on North Pond on Wednesday. We had a potluck lunch at noon. Those present were: Joyce Lamb, Lempi Cyr, June Demarest, Miriam Inman, Edith Morey and the hostess.

The annual pumpkin sale will be on Saturday, Oct. 2 at Emery's Building Materials parking lot. The time will be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. There will also be a food table, crafts and "white elephants."

EX-HOBO MADE A LASTING COMMITMENT—Jason and Phyllis Smith of Bethel were married 60 years ago, on Sept. 23, 1933. They met shortly after Jason gave up his hobo life riding trains cross-country. Jason said while he was working at his uncle's woodyard in Auburn in 1931, he caught Phyllis checking him out through the yard's fence. "I looked through the fence and there she was peaking at me," he said. "A couple of girls were trying to get me, but she wound up with me." Phyllis said she always knew she would. "I told him other women were after him, but 'Someday you'll be mine,'" she said. More than 60 years later the couple have four children, 12 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren. Locke Mills

By CRYSTAL LAKE

In last week's column I made an error writing about the Scottish clan MacBean, so I'm writing it again.

The Scottish clan MacBean will hold a New England gathering on Saturday, Oct. 16 at Lyndon Center, Vt. All members and non-members are welcome to attend (Bean, Beane, Bain, Bane, Bayne, Vane, Vain, Veen, etc.). The registration will be at the Town Hall from 9 to 10 a.m. on that day. The gathering is free. For more information you can call 875-3726.

A music program was presented by the local auxiliary music chairman, Mary Lyons, at the Legion Hall in Locke Mills on Sept. 16. There were 32 in attendance; among them were Helen M. Audet, chairman, Dept. of Maine Americanism and Jeanette Holland, Dept. of Maine music chairman. Herb and Mary Lyons were also presented with a 50th wedding anniversary cake.

As we all know, Rev. Gen is leaving to further her education. We will all miss her, as she has become a part of all our lives. On Saturday night at Dick and Bev Melville's home in Locke Mills, Gen was the guest of honor at a goodbye picnic.

She was also guest of honor on Sunday at the Rumford Point Church for a goodbye dinner where she was presented with a hand harp, which she has been wanting for a long time.

Brent Lake of Locke Mills has started Boy Scouts again this year. He is in the Bethel Boy Scout Troop 565 and seems very excited this year to work on his star rank with some of the other scouts. Right now the scouts are planning a fall camp out sometime in October. Brent started scouts when he was 8 years old in the Cub Scouts and has continued through to his present of 13. His goal is Eagle Scout.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

Katie and Kurt Wight of Newry each caught a pig at the Oxford County Fair last week.

The Windy Valleys Sno-Mobile Club will have their lawn sale Saturday, Oct. 2 at Newry Corner. Anyone who wants to donate articles, etc., can bring whatever to the corner early in the morning or anytime before noon if possible.

"Correction": The Newry Community Church will have the hymn sing on Oct. 17, 2 p.m. instead of 5 p.m., as previously noted.

The Newry Recreation Committee will sponsor two events this coming weekend. On Friday, Oct. 1, there will be a potluck supper at the Newry Grange Hall at 5:30 p.m. Bring food to share. Everybody is welcome. There will be a donation bucket at the dinner to raise funds for the Newry/Ireland exchange of young people.

On Sunday, Oct. 3, the Recreation Committee will sponsor a fall foliage hike up Mt. Will. All ages are welcome. Meet at 1 p.m. at the Mt. Will trailhead on Route 26. Bring water and a snack—no rain date has been scheduled.

Mrs. Edward Ennis of Arlington, Vt., returned home Saturday after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell, Sr.

The members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Telley, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent, Irene Hadsfield and Olive Anderson were guests. Of the "Lefties," Karlene was high on the singles and triples. Of the "Righties," Doris was high on the singles and triples. Karlene had four spares and one strike; Gil had two spares; Bea had three spares; Doris had four spares; Irene had one spare and Louise had three spares.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell, Sr. were dinner guests of friends in Rangeley on Monday, the 20th.

Curator Larry Billings of Woodstock Historical Society reports that he has given a vase to the society and has done some work there also. He also reports that Francis and Glennis Brooks have given an item to the museum. At the September business meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society, some of the officers elected were: president, Anella Burnham, chairman of the board of trustees, Olive Risko, and curator, Larry Billings. Ray Burnham presented the program on Lewis and Clark. The historical museum is the community's attempt to tell its story as well as it can. The Historical Society is always looking for new members to help out—it is a worthy cause.

Tyler Craig Moore, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dillingham was in the baby contest at the Oxford County Fair on Sunday. Tyler got the prize for having the reddest hair. Tyler got a ribbon and a dollar. He was a year old last month.

Lolalee Dillingham called on her sister Lorri Parlin and Will Wilson of Hebron last Sunday. Lolalee's nieces were there throughout the day along with friends from Oxford, Mass., Colorado and Oxford, Maine. Lolalee stopped by the Union Church on Sunday and bought a few items that Isabelle Brown had for sale.

Gordon and Lolalee had a business appointment in Lewiston on Friday, and on Monday Lola and Louise Hooper took Alfred Bracy to the doctor's in Waterville. They stopped at the Weathervane restaurant for lunch.

Bob and Sylvia Johnson called on Gordon and Lola last week. They brought a homemade blackberry pie for Gordon and an apple pie for Lola. Very delicious.

Lola and Gordon attended the benefit supper for Albert Hammond recently. The supper was arranged by friends.

Willie and Joyce Hathaway have been in Florida attending a family reunion.

Bill Newell is back at Ripley and Fletcher's as a car salesman.

Donna Kosiba sent Andrea Wing over a jar of mustard pickles. They are being enjoyed, as these are Andrea's favorite.

Buster and Claribel Poland visited Vernon Poland at Ledgerview Nursing Home last week. Vernon was outside enjoying the nice weather we've been having.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Since I wrote last we have had heat that seemed to bond our valley. The sun poured down its rays unrelentingly and by noon the stifled air and sunshine seemed to hold everything in a firm grip. But things can change in a few hours, and it did. We then had cooler days.

In the evening the blue water of the pond turned dark and the cicada shrilled "Happy evening."

Shadows pushed down the slopes, for dusk falls quickly now.

For a time there was a quiet so deep that not even the rustle of the leaves or the stir of the pond's water was noticed. This calm was so great that all motion had gone out of the universe. I sat and looked, waiting for something to happen.

There was a dull glow against the sky. The moon was rising. Noyes Mountain and the tall trees acted as umbrella tops by shutting its face.

The moon is a fickle "creature" anyway. First it comes as a crescent, leering with a face of mockery, flashes into a half ball, then becomes full and complacent. It was nearly full that night, when it rose above the mountain. After that it will become restless, wane and leave the world to the stars. This night there were but a few, but beyond the mysterious and misty canopy I knew they were waiting faithfully.

The air was cooling and grew damp.

Occasionally I heard the splash of water among the marsh hummocks; the ducks were enjoying the evening, too.

As the moon climbed, throwing the backdrop of the trees into silhouette, I could hear the other evening noises, a testimony that many things are nocturnal.

Lights twinkled from homes and passing cars.

The reeds and lily pads were bejeweled, I'm sure, with tiny drops of crystal beads that had settled for the night.

Finally, real dark came and I moved into the house. The cool darkness was relieved only by a distant and gentle moon while all around the dark trees remained intensely still.

Zilpha DiArenzo visited Katherine Hakala in So. Paris one day this week.

Robert Holt and his daughter Jennett of Windsor visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt, his sister Ann and me on Saturday.

I attended the O.C.R.T. in Norway on Saturday.

NEW SKIDDER'S OWNERS--Dan Smith and Rick Wiltzius are the new owner-operators of Skidder's Deli on lower Main Street. Wiltzius and Smith, both veterans of the local food-service scene, say they plan to continue to expand Skidder's hours and menu. Former owner Audrey Sundman will be helping out with the transition for the next two weeks or so, and the new owners have invited the public to drop in and say good-bye.

OUTWARD BOUND OFFERS EDUCATORS' WORKSHOPS

The Hurricane Island Outward Bound School will offer two weekend workshops for educators at its Leon L. Bean Mountain Center in Newry this fall.

These workshops, entitled education in motion: the Outward Bound Experience, will focus on helping educators to become more familiar with Outward Bound's methodologies and to help with the transfer of experiential education from the wilderness to the classroom. They will take place Oct. 1 through 3 and Dec. 17 through 19.

Each workshop will feature a guest presenter, who will help participants to understand the link between experiential education and traditional education in a way which promotes increased awareness of new approaches to educational excellence.

The featured speaker at the workshops this fall will be Stephen S. Kaagan, a former Vermont state commissioner of education and Pratt Institute provost, whose wide-ranging educational background includes posts as a classroom teacher in Canberra, Australia, a director of admissions at Harvard Graduate School of Education, and a Hurricane Island Outward Bound School president. Kaagan is currently the vice president of the Michigan Partnership for Education.

Tuition for the workshops is $300. Up to 80 percent scholarship support is available for teachers coming from rural Maine counties, with preference given to teachers from Oxford and Franklin counties.

For more information or to register, call 594-1401, ext. 362.

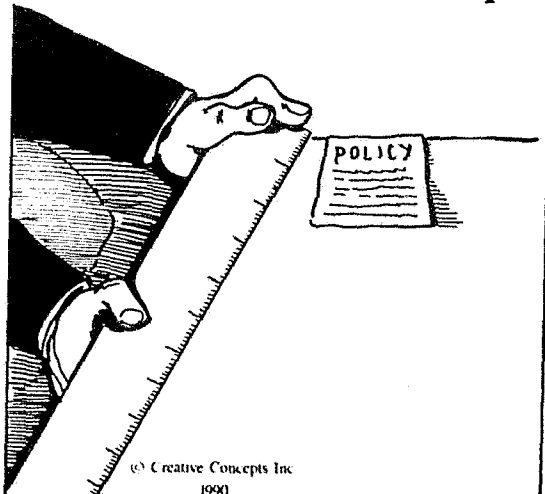

WOMEN'S BUSINESS EXHIBIT

Companies having a product or service directed to small businesses are invited to exhibit at the Business-to-Business Trade Show of the Women Business Owners Conference.

The Women's Business Development Corporation (WBDC) is preparing for its sixth annual Women Business Owners Conference on Oct. 27 at the Augusta Civic Center. This year's theme is "Achieving Leadership." The cost of a booth is $125.

For further information, please call Great Gatherings at 622-5330 or WBDC at 234-2019.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Many thanks to Grant Wilson, Jr., and Hans Tripp, as well as the staff of the Sunday River Brewing Company for hosting a "Business After Hours" on Monday, Sept. 27. Good food and great conversation in a wonderful atmosphere made for a successful evening.

The next Business After Hours is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 18, at Carter's Cross Country Ski Center on the Middle Intervale Road from 5 to 7 p.m.

The transportation meeting, previously scheduled for this Thursday, Sept. 30, at 3:30 p.m. has been postponed until next week. Expect a call from the chamber staff on date and time.

Many thanks to Lai Faulkner, board member and co-owner of The Backstage Restaurant, for volunteering to help out in the office in August and September.

The chamber would like to welcome new staff member Donna Halacy of Hanover, who will operate the Bethel Area Reservation Service for the upcoming season.

Many thanks, once again, to volunteers Bill and Ernestine Riley and Doug Zinchuk who helped to staff the Maine Lakes & Mountains exhibit at the Eastern States Exposition for 13 days. More than 500,000 visited the Maine building and saw our display there. Bruce and Shirley Powell are also to be recognized for their efforts at the Halifax, Nova Scotia ski show this past weekend.

GOULD ACADEMY EXHIBIT—Artist Sally Stowell Tescini, a Bryant Pond native and University of Florida professor, poses with her brother Dexter Stowell of Bethel beside one of her paintings at the Owen Gallery. The opening reception for her exhibition was held Friday. A number of Tescini's paintings are set in Bryant Pond, though the portrait pictures is of a yoga teacher and longtime acquaintance of the artists.

THE THREE OF US

Just Imagine Coffee House

Remember how much fun you had tapping your toes to the music of the Just Imagine Coffee House last year and the year before? You haven't made it yet? Well, your chance is coming up, and you won't want to miss it. On Saturday, Oct. 2, the popular musical trio, "The Three of Us," will appear.

Back for its third season, the coffee house has a great line-up of performances in store. Put the first Saturday of each month on your calendar. On those nights the coffee house will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel. The public is invited to enjoy this unique family experience in a chemical- and smoke-free environment. The setting is informal—come for the entire evening or stop in when you can. In addition to the featured entertainment, there will be an open mike featuring local performers. Refreshments will be available. A $3 donation is requested—$1.50 for senior citizens and children under 12.

"The Three of Us" has performed at hundreds of venues throughout northern New England, bringing audiences to tears, laughter, and a whole range of emotional expressions in between. Their music features three-part harmonies, creative arrangements, and enthusiastic performances designed to entertain every kind of audience. Country, folk, oldies, contemporary; you name it—they play it!

Come participate in your favorite music—7 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 2 at the Bethel Congregational Church.

WMA names interim director

Western Mountains Alliance's newly-hired interim director Edie Damm said the Alliance has its second wind.

The Alliance, housed on campus at the University of Maine in Farmington, recently experienced cutbacks in its staff and programs due to expiration of grants and slow fundraising efforts.

Edie Damm

"However," Board President Scott Planting said, "the board has restructured itself. We are aggressively fundraising and have set our sights on completing some very important projects in western Maine."

Damm, who began work on Aug. 1, was hired from within the organization. She has been a board member for two years and is an alumnus of the first Rural Leaders Forum, sponsored by the Alliance. The Rural Leaders Forum is a seven-month course in which participants from throughout western Maine learn about western Maine issues, while developing leadership skills.

"The board is already busy refocusing its efforts on four very important areas," Damm said.

The four focus areas are: the fourth annual Rural Leaders Forum; the development of a micro-business lending program for western Maine; carrying through on specific tasks for developing sustainable communities in western Maine; and opening the lines of communication between the programs of the Western Mountains Alliance and the residents of Franklin, Oxford, Piscataquis.

Damm has owned a small business for the past seven years, specializing in political consulting and marketing for businesses.

Damm is involved in the Dirigo Girls State program, is a board member of Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway, the Alpha Delta Phi Alumni Corporation, and works with several grassroots political organizations. She is the mother of two sons, Nathaniel, 5, and Ezra, 3.

"Western Maine is such a huge area geographically, but that makes it even more crucial that organizations such as the Alliance work hard to give it a strong regional identity," Damm said.

Damm said that for years people living in western Maine have gotten the short end of the stick from Augusta. She said that residents don't have a feeling of regionalism like the residents of Aroostook County do, or the residents "downeast."

"In order for western Maine to grow politically, socially and economically, we need to strengthen our sense of regionalism. The Alliance is determined to be a leader in this important effort," Damm said.

Damm can be reached at the Alliance office in the Thomas House at UMF at 778-7274.

ANY-DEER PERMITS

Hunters who will be allowed to hunt deer of either sex in Maine this fall will be determined by computer drawing on Sept. 24, according to the Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

The selection of the winning numbers for any-deer permits will begin at 1 p.m. in Room 113 of the State Office Building in Augusta.

Several daily newspapers will print the winning numbers the next day.

The department will issue about 44,500 permits this year. Hunters without one must hunt for adult bucks only.

Among the new titles: "Hope Dies Last" by Alexander Dubcek; "Frontiers II" by Isaac and Janet Asimov; "The Baseball Encyclopedia"; "The Rise and Fall of the Soviet Union" by Michael Kort; "American Apartheid" by Douglas S. Massey; "A Different Mirror" by Ronald Takaki; "Heroes of My Time" by Harrison E. Salisbury; "The Joy of Photography"; "A Marriage Made in Heaven" by Erma Bombeck; "The Ginger Tree" by Oswald Wynd; "The Infinite Plan" by Isabel Allende; "Once They Moved like the Wind" by David Roberts.

A reminder to all parents: Monday, Oct. 4, from 10 to 11 a.m. will be the second CAP (Children and Parents) Hour at the Bethel Library. Parenting educator Lorie Hoeh will lead the parents' discussion while librarian Betsy Raymond will have a Story Hour for the children in another room. This is a great opportunity for parents to get together and discuss issues and problems while their young children gain familiarity with the library.

LOUISE'S LAST DAY--Louise Annis, center, retired Friday after 30 years at Brooks Bros. hardware store on Main Street in Bethel. Here her friend Arlene Lowell, left, and co-worker Jen Pitcher help her display a cake made in her honor by Arlene Bean of West Bethel. Louise said she plans to do a little traveling and some volunteer work in her new free time.

FALL FOLIAGE FLOTILLA

The Friends of the Androscoggin, a river advocacy group based in the Bethel area, will hold its annual Fall Foliage Flotilla on Saturday, Oct. 2. This year's event is a canoe trip from Gilead to Bethel offering participants the opportunity to view some of the area's most spectacular fall colors from the Androscoggin River itself.

The trip will begin at 10 a.m. at the Boise Cascade canoe launch site next to the Gilead bridge and will end at approximately 2:30 p.m. at Davis Park in Bethel. Anyone wishing to participate is asked to meet at the launch site with a canoe, a picnic lunch, a life preserver for each person in the canoe, and seasonal clothing. For more information contact Melinda Remington at 824-2808.

USDA - Forest Service

White Mountain National Forest
Evans Notch Ranger District
Albany, Oxford County, Maine

On September 22, 1993, Evans Notch District Ranger Rolly Ortegón made a decision to harvest approximately 900 thousand board feet of timber on 179 acres of National Forest land in Compartment 27, referred to as the New England Brook Timber Harvest. He also decided to restore 0.6 miles of Type I road and 0.4 miles of Type II road to facilitate access to the harvest area.

The Decision Notice is available upon request from the Evans Notch Ranger District, Bethel, ME 04217-9634.

This decision is subject to appeal pursuant to Forest Service regulations 36 CFR Part 217. Appeals must be filed no later than November 8, 1993. Legal Notice of this decision was first published in the Lewiston Sun-Journal, Lewiston, Maine, on September 24, 1993. Notices of Appeal must meet the requirements of 36 CFR 217.9

STELLA P. EAMES

Stella P. Eames, 86, widow of Garard Eames, of Paradise Road, Bethel, died Monday morning, Sept. 27, 1993, at Ledgeview Nursing Home after an extended illness. She was born Feb. 26, 1907 in Rangeley, the daughter of Fred and Evora (Hoar) Pillsbury. She had made Bethel her home for more than 60 years. After graduating from Rangeley High School, Mrs. Eames attended business school. For more than 30 years she was a cook in Bethel, many of those years for Cotton's Restaurant and subsequent owners, where she was known for her fine home-style cooking. She was predeceased by her husband in 1949. Mrs. Eames is survived by a niece, Bertha (Cross) Foster of Bethel. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, Sept. 29, at 1 p.m. at the Greenleaf Funeral Home. Interment will take place in the family lot at Woodland Cemetery, Bethel. Friends who wish may make memorial contributions in her memory to B.E.A.R.S., Town of Bethel, Bethel, ME 04217.

WALTER B. NEWELL

Walter B. Newell, 81, died Thursday afternoon, Sept. 23, 1993, after an extended illness. Mr. Newell was born in Sumner, the son of the late Elliot L. and Hattie (Robinson) Newell, but had made his home in Bethel for nearly a half-century. He attended the Sumner schools and was a mill worker by vocation, having been employed by Ekco Wood Products and Hanover Dowel Co., where he retired a number of years ago. He was a veteran of the U.S. Navy, having served during World War II aboard the USS Helena. He was married to Hazel Hanscom on August 14, 1943; she died Nov. 30, 1992. Mr. Newell held membership in the American Legion, Post 68 of Locke Mills, the V.F.W. of Bethel, Jefferson Lodge, A.F. & A.M. and the Order of the Eastern Star, both of Bryant Pond. Survivors include a son, Charles W. of Bethel; a sister, Mrs. Bernice Kinney of Dunedin, Fla.; a brother, Harrington Newell of Auburn, and two grandchildren, Alec and Martha Newell. Memorial services will be held Saturday, Oct. 2, at 10 a.m. at the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Bethel. In lieu of flowers donations may be made in his memory to Androscoggin Home Health, 15 Strawberry Ave., Lewiston, ME 04243-0819, or to B.E.A.R.S., Town of Bethel, Bethel, ME 04218.

HELEN M. GROVER

Helen M. Grover, 96, of East Stoneham, died Friday, Sept. 24, 1993. She was born in East Stoneham on July 14, 1897, the daughter of Leslie and Tina (Small) McAllister.

She graduated from Norway High School in 1915 and taught elementary school in Lynchville that same fall. She also taught in East Stoneham, West Stoneham, South Waterford, Waterford and the Waterford Memorial School. She married Perley Grover in March 1917. He died in June 1954. Mrs. Grover finished her teaching career in 1967, but substituted for several years. She served as chairwoman of East Stoneham Church turkey suppers for 25 years. She was a member and served as deacon of the East Stoneham Congregational Church for many years. She was a member of the Oxford County Retired Teachers Association. She was a 64-year member of the Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent, East Stoneham. She is survived by one son, Dwight Grover of East Stoneham; a daughter, Joyce (Grover) Gouin of Norway; three sisters: Josephine Stone and Margaret McAllister, both of Norway, and Grace Cummings of South Paris; nine grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and two great-great grandchildren. She was predeceased by two sons, Rodney T. Grover and Keith L. Grover, and two brothers, Gerald McAllister and Donald F. McAllister. Funeral services were held Monday, Sept. 27, 2 p.m., at the East Stoneham Congregational Church with Pastor Janice Wilcox and Tr. Donald L. McAllister as celebrants. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery, East Stoneham. Donations may be made in Mrs. Grover's memory to the East Stoneham Church, c/o Mary Grover, Treasurer, RR Box 1270, East Stoneham ME 04231.

IOLA LAPHAM CHEW

Mrs. Iola Lapham Chew, 100, a former resident of Rumbold, died Tuesday, Sept. 21, 1993, in Orlando, Fla. Mrs. Chew was born in Roxbury, Mass., Nov. 28, 1892, the daughter of Georgianna Wight and Charles W. Lapham.

Survivors include: Audrey Dunlap, a cousin in Nova Scotia and grand nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her husband, Preston Chew; a twin sister, Miss Hazel Lapham; three brothers: Welsford, Atherton and Winfield. Funeral services were held at the Andrews Funeral Home, So. Woodstock, on Sept. 21 at 2 p.m., with The Reverend Gwyneth Bohr officiating. Interment was in the Lapham family lot, Farrington-Morton Cemetery, Mexico.

Try us first!

We hear it all the time... Someone's been looking all over the countryside for some obscure piece of tackle or equipment. They try us as a last resort, and we had it all along! Or, they stop in after buying clay pigeons or ammo or something at one of the department stores, and we've got what they just bought...cheaper!!!

We've got a great selection of used guns. And, we stand by them. If you have a problem with a gun you bought from us, bring it back and we'll make it right with you. That's easy for us. Our gunsmith, Bruce Reynolds, is on duty in the store five days a week. We're also a Remington Warranty Repair Station and Recommended Gunsmith. If you've got a problem with a gun...Bring it in!

Special orders are no problem. It's actually easy when you're small like us. If you want something we don't have, we can get it for you in some instances in twenty-four hours. In any case we can tell you just when it'll be here.

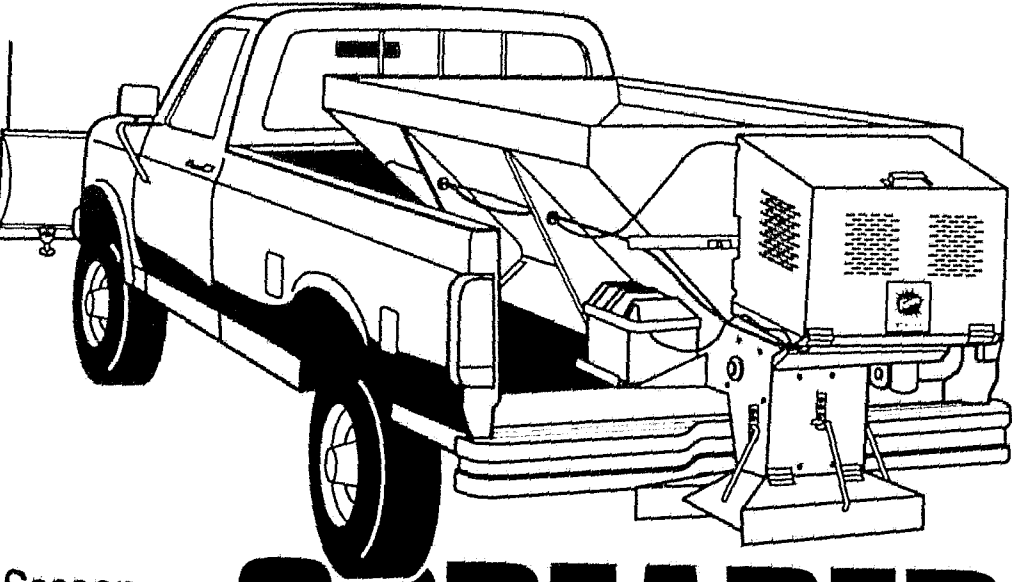

We're stocking up right now for the hunting season and we've got a pile of stuff! Knives, scopes, Topo maps, clothing, reloading supplies, holsters, gun cases, calls, rattling antlers, ammo. Speaking of ammo, we always try to keep a box or two of the hard-to-find calibers like 7.7 Jap., .38-55, .44-40, .307 Win. and the like. Want a laugh? Try asking the clerk at Wally Market for a box of .32-20's!

All of us here are into hunting, fishing or shooting. I forgot to mention Clint Twitchell. He's in one day a week. The guy knows more about handguns than anyone around! We try to stock what we think you need at the best values we can find. We're here Monday thru Saturday 9-5 and Fridays 9-6, and we'll be open late Friday night before the first day of deer season.

So, try us first, and spend more time out in the woods or on the range!
